SITUATION AT HAZELTON.

Trouble is Feared Before the Day Comes to a Close.

HAZELTON, Pa., Sept. 13.—The situation here today is ominous and an outbreak of hostilities between the strikers and the militia is expected before night.

The military authorities realized the danger of the situation early this morning and as a precautionary measure all the liquor saloons were ordered closed until 4 o'clock this afternoon. If trouble is stayed until sundown the situation will have passed the danger point.

HE WROTE 3 LETTERS.

C. H. Godfrey Has Begun His Proceedings Against the Board of Education.

ADVICE TO CITY TREASURER.

He Writes Secretary Fifield How It is and Also Notifies Governor Pingree.

This morning Charles H. Godfrey, the gentleman who counts himself a member of the school board by virtue of a grand total of one vote, sent letters to Secretary Fifield, City Treasurer Brown and Governor Pingree relating his woes. He cautioned the secretary to go slow until the matter of the legality of the present board was settled by "higher authority." To the city treasurer he wrote asking him to pay no vouchers issued by the school board thus suspending (in his mind) the payment of the salaries of the teachers employed in the city schools; the letter he sent to the governor he has not made public. That he means business is shown by the fact that he took a letter press copy of the three epistles.

Following is the letter received by Secretary Fifield:

"BENTON HARBOR, Sept. 13, 1897. To the School of Benton Harbor, Gentleman: My understanding of the school election laws are such that only two tickets were legally cast, one for myself and one for Steven Boyle. As I have been refused the privilege of qualifying and excepting of this office I enter my most earnest protest against this so-called school board to continue to do the business of a school board until settled by higher authority. I also call your attention to pg 46 to the school laws of '97 calling for a full and itemized financial statement of the receipts and expenditures of our district during the proceeding year and have published in one or more newspapers.

"Yours truly,
"C. H. GODFREY."
The spelling, the grammar and rhetoric in the above letter is all Mr. Godfrey's own. It needs only to be carefully read to be properly appreciated. The financial statement to which Mr. Godfrey alludes was printed in the official paper on August 24, and Mr. Godfrey like a large majority of the people of the city never saw it. That is a point against the board. It ought to have given the statement to a newspaper read by the people.

The letter sent to the city treasurer reads as follows:

"BENTON HARBOR, Sept. 13, 1897. Mr. C. J. Brown, school treasurer, city: Dear sir: There be a controversy between myself and the so-called school board. I call your attention to the same which will be found in letters and protests already published by me and ask that you pay no vouchers whatever issued by said board until settled by higher authority. You certainly have a right by law, if in your mind their action is not legal to refuse the same. "Yours truly,
"C. H. GODFREY."

Unless Mr. Godfrey gets out an injunction the teachers need not worry about their pay. Mr. Brown will not exercise the right which Lawyer Godfrey declares he possesses.

An Old Soldier Met a Horrible Death Last Saturday.

THREE OAKS, Sept. 13.—Morgan Butler, an old soldier met a horrible death last Saturday. He in company with another man was engaged in loading a wagon with dirt from a huge bank near the village when the bank suddenly began to cave.

The noise of the caving frightened the horses and the man with Mr. Butler caught the lines and was hauled away from the falling earth.

Mr. Butler was buried in the sand and when help came he was dead. The funeral was held today at Galien Center and was largely attended.

MEN OF THE FORCEPS

They Will Hold a Two Days' Session in Benton Harbor This Week.

WILL BE A JOINT MEETING.

Western Michigan and Northern Indiana Dental Societies to Discuss Their Profession.

A joint meeting of the Southwestern Michigan and North Indiana Dental societies will open in this city tomorrow morning and continue until Wednesday afternoon, closing at 4 o'clock.

The sessions will be held in the Miami club rooms and, it is expected, will be attended by upwards of 50 men of the forceps. Among the features planned for the delectation of the dentists is a trip up the St. Joseph river tomorrow evening on the steamer May Graham, the boat leaving Benton Harbor at 8:30 o'clock. Enroute the dentists will be banqueted on the products of Berrien County orchards with a view of impressing upon them the success achieved by orchardists of this locality.

Tomorrow's session will open at 1 o'clock, with the following program: Invocation, Rev. W. P. French; address of welcome, Mayor John Bell; response, Dr. W. W. Shryock, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; annual address by presidents, Dr. T. G. Rix, Dowagiac and Dr. S. B. Johnson, Auburn, Ind.; Afternoon—2 o'clock, "Our Experience as Country Dentists," Dr. C. V. Y. Ferguson, Paw Paw; discussion, Dr. A. C. Runyon, South Haven; 3 o'clock, "Application of English Tube Teeth in Bridge Work," Dr. H. A. Moyer, Kendallville, Ind.; discussion, Dr. M. A. Mason, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; 4 o'clock, "Aluminum Solder," W. S. Bates, A. M., Chicago; discussion, Dr. C. R. Rowley, Chicago; 5 o'clock, Clinics, "Gold Filling," Dr. T. A. Goodwin, Warsaw, Ind.; "New Methods of Backing Porcelain Facings," Dr. Backus, St. Joseph; "Dr. Weld's Chemio Metallic Method for Filling the Difficult Root Canals of Semi-Devitalized Teeth," Dr. S. M. White.

Following is the executive committee of the Southwestern Michigan society: Drs. S. M. White, H. C. Rockwell and S. B. Ellsworth, Benton Harbor; E. I. Backus, St. Joseph; T. G. Rix and F. H. Essig, Dowagiac.

Acids and the Teeth.

It is a dentist's word that acids are quite as injurious as sweets to the teeth, unless their traces are promptly removed. Oranges or apples eaten at night need the brush as certainly as do candy and other sweets. If persons would be careful, too, what is taken before a teeth filling appointment, those with sensitive teeth will find some mitigation to their suffering. Acids that set the teeth on edge are particularly to be avoided.

ber Nearly Thirty.

Columbus, O., Sept. 13.—The great miners' strike which was declared on July 4 was brought to an end Saturday evening so far, at least, as western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia are concerned, by the action of the interstate convention of miners which had been in session here since Wednesday. After a day of voting and wrangling, the convention adopted a resolution accepting the proposition of the Pittsburg operators. The vote was 495 for and 397 against the terms of settlement; eleven votes were not cast. The delegates from Illinois, who had 250 votes, were unanimously against a restatement. Indiana and West Virginia voted solidly to accept the operators' proposition, but there were scattering votes among the Ohio and Pittsburg delegates against it. The resolutions adopted were exactly the same to all practical intents and purposes as those that had been rejected earlier in the day,
and are as follows:

Not to Resume for Ten Days.
"Resolved, That we, the miners of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, in convention assembled, do hereby agree to accept the proposition recommended by our national executive committee, viz.: 65 cents in the Pittsburg district; all places in the above-named states where a relative price can be obtained to resume work and contribute liberally to the miners who do not receive the advance, where the fight must be continued to the bitter finish.

"Resolved, That the national officers, executive board and district presidents act as an advisory board for the purpose of providing ways and means for the carrying on of the strike where necessary; provided, however, that no district resume work for ten days, for the purpose of giving miners in other districts time to confer with their operators and get the price if possible."

Illinois Men to Meet on the 19th.
While ten days is provided for the miners to resume work it is probable that many of the Ohio and Pittsburg miners will be reopened today. The convention adopted resolutions indorsing the action of the national executive board in recommending a settlement on the terms proposed. The Illinois miners will be called in convention at Springfield, Sept. 19, to determine what shall be done in that state. Some of the Illinois delegates are very bitter in their denunciation of the action of the convention.
Since, they claim, their interests have not been given due consideration. A resolution was adopted denouncing the action of the deputies in firing into the crowd of striking miners at Hazleton, Pa.

Operators Complain of the Delay.
Pittsburg, Sept. 13.—The coal mine operators of the Pittsburg district think they have got the worst of it by the adoption at Columbus of the ten-day proviso. J. C. Dysart, chairman of the committee who represents the operators, in speaking of the settlement said: "If the miners of this district knew what sort of a game has been played on them and on the Pittsburg operators by the Illinois, Indiana and Ohio operators and miners they would not stand idle a moment, but would return to work immediately. After the heroic struggle the Pittsburg miners have made, their western brethren, backed by the operators, seek to steal their mess of pottage. We have only sixty days to make the entire lake shipment. This has been reduced to fifty days by the Columbus resolution. What coal the Pittsburg operators are unable to ship will be furnished by mines further west."

Situation in the Prairie State.
Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—News of the action of the national convention of coal miners at Columbus, O., was received here with great satisfaction. The strike in this state was entered upon in response to the call of the national officers, and a majority of the miners have felt that there could be no local settlement until a basis for settlement should be adopted by the national organization. When the news came of the action of the convention the miners were jubilant. They believe that a settlement for Illinois on a rate proportionate to that adopted for Pittsburg will now be secured, and that there will be a speedy resumption of work. President Hatch-ford will leave Columbus for Illinois today to request the miners in this district to come into the arrangement.

WILL BE NEARLY THIRTY.

The Death Roll Resulting from the Shooting Near Hazleton.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 13.—The events yesterday in connection with the terrible tragedy enacted on the highway, near here Friday, were the death of another of the wounded, Jacob Tomashantos, the 18-year-old boy who was shot through the head; the announcement by the hospital doctors that six more will die. The death of Tomashantos makes twenty-two, and if six more die the total death toll will be twenty-eight.
Two score are maimed more or less seriously. The roll of dead and fatally wounded Saturday was: Dead—Andrew Nickowski, John Chobenski, Steven Ulrich, Andrew Yerham, John Franko, John Zernawick, Frank Kodet, John Zaslack, John Sheka, Anton Greeko, John Turnasvich, Andrew Yurick—all of Harwood; Andrew Zimenaki, Adam Zimowski, John Buski, Stanley Zagdraki, Sebastian Bosotowski, John Futa, Adelbert Chata—all of Crystal Ridge; Andrew Collick and Rafael Reckewick, of Cranberry.

Injured who are at death's door—
Clement Potock, Casper Dolan, John

to induce them to go to the strikers
rank, laid down their arms and swore
to do no more work until all the demands of the men at all the mines in the district have been conceded. Next in importance was the issuance of warrants for the arrest of Sheriff Martin and the 102 deputies. Then there were several meetings of miners and citizens all denouncing the sheriff and his deputies. Then the Austrian diplomats at Washington will be called upon to move in the matter, many of the killed and wounded being aliens. Resolutions have been adopted by numerous labor bodies all over the country denouncing the shooting and Gompers and Debs are out in statements bitterly assailing the sheriff, Debs' effort being the bitterest.

The situation here is graver than it has been at any time since the bloody affray. There is strong reason to fear a conflict between the strikers and the military today, and there is an indication that from 5,000 to 7,000 more miners will join the malcontents. Trouble is in the air, and if it is to come the time will be this morning. This is clear from the words used last night by General Gobin, commander of the Third brigade. The striking miners have made elaborate preparations for a demonstration at the funeral of ten of the victims. The military authorities are determined that nothing of the kind shall be permitted, and that from this time on there shall be no marching of any character whatsoever, whether during funerals or otherwise. His resolution is not generally known and the miners are going on with their arrangements.

General Gobin also made a revelation which put a startling aspect upon the situation. This was that the house of the engineer of No. 3 colliery had been broken into late Saturday night by six masked men and the engineer, who is a cripple, unmercifully beaten. There is no clue to the identity of the assailants. The only work the man has been doing lately is the pumping necessary to free the mine from water. The general had also received a formal report of the Audenreid outrage of last Thursday night, when strikers broke into the house of Gomer Jones, superintendent of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal company. Jones, whose unpopularity with the miners was one of the first causes of the strike, was not there, but the men literally wrecked the interior of the house and then attacked a mine power house near by and stole therefrom a quantity of dynamite.

To all intents and purposes Hazleton is under martial law. General Gobin declared last night that in spite of the warrants issued no constables nor any civil authority will be permitted to arrest the deputies. He said that the sheriff is an executive officer whose duty is to preserve the peace, and that he (Gobin) and the troops are really subordinate to the sheriff at this time.
being engaged in helping him to perform that duty. Under these circumstances he will not permit interference with the sheriff's officials, so long as the militia is here.

Another of the Victims Die.
Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 13.—Clement Ploplisack, aged 33 years, one of the strikers who was injured in Friday's riot, died late last night, making the twenty-third death.

Kiser Beats Horses on a Wheel.
Columbus, O., Sept. 13.—The match race between Rube Rush's running team Alad and Basom, driven to a skeleton wagon, and Earl Kiser, the bicyclist, took place Saturday afternoon on the track at the Columbus Driving park.
Kiser was paced by a quintet. In the mile heat the horses went away with a lead of four lengths, but Kiser came under the wire first in 1:47, winning by only two feet. The second heat of half a mile was won by the horses in 53 seconds, a world's record.

Would Establish Rates by Law.
St. Louis, S. D., Sept. 13.—Governor Lee is considering the advisability of calling an extra session of the legislature to enact the proposed railroad rate reductions as a law. In this way it is believed the injunction granted in the recent case by the United States

to induce them to go to the strikers
rank, laid down their arms and swore
to do no more work until all the demands of the men at all the mines in
the district have been conceded. Next in importance was the issuance of warrants for the arrest of Sheriff Martin
and the 102 deputies. Then there were

FAILLÉ COSTUME.

for no one individual, but, as it were,
for woman in the abstract. When woman in the concrete purchases one of these occurrences, the first thing she does is to take something off here, add something there, change something somewhere else and generally adapt the gown to her own personality, rendering it different from the others, even those of the same material and pattern.

The illustration given today shows a costume of fuchsia colored faille. The skirt is ornamented near the foot by three wide bands of galloon, embroidered with spangles and gold, which stop at either side of the tablier. The lower edge of the skirt has a frill of gold taffeta on the inside. The blouse bodice has a very short, full basque and closes under the arm. It is trimmed with embroidered galloon, simulating a sort of bolero, and has epaulettes of the same trimming. The close sleeves are slightly bouffant at the top. The collar and belt are of embroidered galloon.
A frill of lace finishes the neck and sleeves.
The hat is composed of fuchsia faille, like the gown, and is trimmed with a bow of the same material fastened by a gold boucle.

BENTON HARBOR, MICH., MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1897.

HE MAY BE TRIED.

H. D. Deam Bound Over to the United States District Court Grand Jury.

SUCCESSFUL IN GETTING BAIL.

Is Charged With a Violation of the United States Postal Laws—His Examination.

Vice President Henry D. Deam, of the Benton Harbor Electric Railway & Transit company, arrested Saturday for alleged violation of the postal laws, had his preliminary examination before United States District Court Commissioner O'Hara Saturday evening and was held for arraignment before the United States District Court grand jury, which sits in Grand Rapids October 5, in the sum of $200. He furnished bail with Ferdinand Morley as surety and was released from the custody of Deputy United States Marshal O'Donnel.

The sparring of the counsel was the most sensational feature of the preliminary hearing. Assistant United States District Attorney Richard L. Newnam, representing the government, and Lawyer George M. Valentine, retained by the accused, used forcible language in expressing their regard for one another. Mr. Valentine insisted that it was possible for a government officer to be a "jackass" and Newnam retorted with the declaration that a prosecuting attorney, which office Mr. Valentine holds, could be an "infernal fool."

These compliments were exchanged while Mr. Valentine was endeavoring to impress the court that had Deam opened the letter he is alleged to have opened he would not have been guilty of the charge of "prying into the secrets of another," as the warrant alleges, for the reason that the Courtright Hydraulic Machinery company, to whom the letter was addressed, was not in existence. It having made an assignment several years previous to June 9, last, when the alleged crime was committed, and has had no identity or organization for three years more and consequently could be "secrets or business."

While presenting this proof, Mr. Valentine was interrupted by Newnam who made a nettling remark.

"I wish you would mind your own business," said Mr. Valentine upon the government officer's stand.

"I am minding my business," said Mr. Valentine.

There was a momentary agency the spell was broken by Val Seal this caustic remark: "I do not suppose an assistant water district attorney can see pairs of things."

"Oh, yes, and perhaps your honor has not learned in FRICK."

"Well, I fancy it is not a government officer who is Mr. Valentine's n."

"Yes, and it is black sateen prosecuting attorney for $2.75, if fool," said Newnam.

The court rebuked Valentine apologetically that he might say.

Deam when Dr. Jarrett was a good set for $5.00; the war days only.

rested alleged destroyed a safe company. Courtright Hydraulic Machinery company. The letter combination to a safe sold by the company to the railway company of which Deam was vice president and general manager. Deam's design in opening the letter, it is alleged, was to "obstruct the correspondence and pry into the business and secrets of another."

Two witnesses were sworn by the prosecution, C. G. Davies and W. H. Hollis, respectively treasurer and secretary of the Benton Harbor Electric Railway & Transit company. No witnesses were produced by the defense. Mr. Davies explained that after the safe became the property of the railway company the only persons who knew the combination were he and Secretary Hollis. Deam, the witness said, was the general manager of the company, and was expected to superintend the outside work. Between June 9 and 12 Deam acquired the combination to the safe. At this juncture certain correspondence purported to have passed between Davies and the Mosler Safe company was produced. The same included a letter from the safe company advising Davies of having written the Courtright Hydraulic Machinery company the combination to the safe, which information is said to have gone no nearer its destination than Deam.

Attorneys Valentine and Cady argued strongly against the admission of the letters, claiming that there were no rules of evidence that made them admissible. They were merely copies of alleged originals and there was nothing to show they were bona fide. Later the letters were accepted by the court subject to the objection of the counsel for the defense. When cross-questioned by Mr. Valentine, Davies admitted that Deam's duties as general manager entitled him to access to the safe and also necessitated his using the profiles enclosed in it. The witness admitted further that the Courtright Hydraulic Machinery company had made an assignment and had no property when Deam acquired the combination to the safe.

Commissioner O'Hara was anxious to approach the end of the hearing and suggested that the only question involved was whether the safe company had written a letter to the Courtright Hydraulic Machinery company which had been opened by Deam. "If he opened the letter he obstructed the mails," opined the court. Deam's lawyers then reminded the court that the Courtright company was not in existence when Deam opened the alleged letter and that he had as undisputed a right to take possession of the letter as did Davies or any other person. The Courtright company, having no existence, had no business or secrets to pry into. The court, however, was not influenced by the argument.

When the redirect examination was continued Davies stated that Deam did not get the combination to the safe until after the split in the company, and Deam had begun a suit in court against him, Hamilton and Hollis. To Valentine, Davies stated that he had never asked Deam for a letter for the Courtright Hydraulic Machinery company.

Secretary W. H. Hollis corroborated the testimony of Treasurer Davies, adding that Deam had told him, after starting his suit in the circuit court, that he had changed the combination to the safe. This, the witness said, Deam could not have done without knowing the former combination, as he could not have opened the safe. By this testimony it was established that the combination to the safe was changed after the split in the company. Deam's suit in court against Hollis and Hamilton is exhibited. They are the ladies who are looking for a new combination.

BENTON HARBOR. Hill people are anxious to keep up with the procession. Mr. Ballhouse, of the Kalamazoo firm of manufacturers, is in the city today and will close the contract for bringing his factory here. Kalamazoo citizens held a meeting to induce them to remain there but it was held too late. They will begin moving at once.

ALDERMAN McDonald will begin laying the foundation for his brick block on the corner of Main and Bluff streets Wednesday. There will be two stores facing on Main street and two on Bluff street. Two of them will be 20x35 feet and the other two 35x50. Robert Mills has the contract for doing the work.

RECTOR Woodruff preached an eloquent sermon yesterday at Holy Trinity church from I Corinthians 15: 10. Another feature of the service was the singing by Mrs. Black who rendered "Ave Maria Adagio Religioso" by H. Millard. Miss Woodruff's juvenile choir sang with their usual pleasing effect.

THE Union ice and coal company has only twelve more carloads of ice at Paw Paw lake, and in about two weeks ice will be shipped in from LaPorte. People have greatly enjoyed the use of the ice from the lake this year. The company was allowed only five days of good ice weather last year and in that short time it filled its large ice house with ice.

in the scuffle some one cried "Fire!" The crowd was already worked up to an intense pitch of excitement over a real battle on the stage and the dread cry precipitated a panic. The fire department responded to an alarm and added to the excitement. The house quickly emptied and most of the injured were able to walk to their homes. Stanley Walls and Wells, who was alleged to have started the trouble, were quietly arrested, but before the police reached the jail an angry crowd gathered and made an attempt to assault Wells. The prisoners were finally locked up and the crowd dispersed.

THE WHALEBACK.

Doubtful if the Big Boat Will Run Here Next Year.

THE EVENING NEWS wrote G. S. Whisler, general passenger agent of the Whaleback Steamship company, what there was to the report that the Christopher Columbus would run to St. Joseph next season. Following is the reply received: "The report current that the Whaleback will make regular trips to St. Joe next season cannot be verified by the management of this office, and we doubt very much if such an arrangement will be made for next season."

GREAT INDUSTRY.

Gathering of Mussel Shells Made Profitable Here.

William Crosby, of Indiana, opened an industry on the St. Joseph river, a few miles above St. Joseph, lately, which gives promise of developing into one of considerable importance. It is the gathering of mussel shells for a Chicago firm of pearl button manufacturers.

Mr. Crosby, with his wife located at Race's landing last June and two weeks ago assisted by one man he launched into the new industry. He had been engaged in the same business in Indiana, but the rivers there are not so plentifully supplied with mussels as in St. Joseph and the business was not so profitable as here. Next year, beginning in June, Mr. Crosby will put a force of 20 men at work in the St. Joseph river, developing an industry of considerable magnitude.

Mr. Crosby's average daily shipment of mussel shells is two barrels. Each barrel contains in the neighborhood of 250 pounds and the shells bring one cent a pound in Chicago. The shells procured in the St. Joseph river are vastly superior to those obtained by Mr. Crosby in the Indiana rivers. They are equal in quality to the imported shells, so the button manufacturers inform Mr. Crosby, and will be more extensively because of their Good Position.

DEAM A SMOOTH MAN.
The smoothest man who ever struck Benton Harbor is Henry D. Deam, vice president of the Benton Harbor Electric railroad company. He first appeared here a year and a half ago and with a great flourish of "unlimited capital" he proceeded to construct a tunnel under the city and a road leading to Dowagiac, Decatur and Paw Paw. He had no money but he lived on his nerve, borrowing from some of the supposedly shrewdest men in the city amounts ranging from $100 down. Of course he gave no security, for he had none to give. He ran his face for groceries and other goods and the merchants he dealt with have accounts against him just as large as they would permit. He can tell a crooked story and make it sound very straight.
Saturday afternoon he succeeded in getting one of the best citizens in the city to go on his bond and keep him out of jail until the United States grand jury shall meet. A few days before, after being virtually in contempt of court for several weeks he succeeded in having Judge Coolidge annul the order for him to open the safe of the company. Now he expects to succeed in his purpose to have a receiver appointed for the company.
Mr. Deam never put a cent into the road only his time and expenses. The men he hired have been unpaid. In the face of this Mr. Deam is now working for public sympathy on the plea that he cannot get along with the other members of his company because they want to build the road first and afterwards pay the old debts he contracted. He declares he wants to pay the old debts first. This same man, who evidently is making no great struggle to pay his own debts, is so honest that he is afraid the money put in by other members of the company will not be used in paying off the claims he contracted a year ago.
In spite of all his mysterious dealings he appears too sharp for his associates and the people of the city, and thus far he has won a practical victory in every legal fight in which he has engaged.
Mr. Deam had the confidence of the people a year ago and he might have retained it and built the road had he been more faithful in his observation of the ninth commandment.

SUNDAY a Chicago pastor preached on the timely theme, "Would Christ go to the Klondike?" However the preacher decided the question it is certain that Christ would not go to the Klondike as long as there are so many hypocrites in high places in the churches who steal bread and meat from the mouths of earth's unfortunates. The miners of the Klondike are nearer heaven than the hypocrites who make long prayers as a cloak to cover the "sharp bargains" they drive. The inhuman coal operators would also receive attention before the Klondike would be visited.

CHICAGO Socialists yesterday in warm speeches wanted to avenge the deaths of the Hazelton miners by killing twenty millionaires and the editor of the Chicago Tribune, who editorially upheld the murderous course of the sheriff. The sheriff took a course which but few good citizens will endorse. He was not as much to blame, however, as the judge who issued the injunction forbidding miners to assemble on the highways. When courts and officers are taught that they are servants and not masters of the common people the socialists will largely be out of a job.

THE JUMPING OFF PLACE

of the United States in Northwestern Washington is a region of unusual grandeur.
A wild craggy range of mountains, the Olympics, looks out upon the waters of the Pacific Ocean and the strait of Juan de Fuca. The high peaks of the range are crested with eternal snow and ice. Deep in their hollows are lakes of great depth and crystal purity. The flanks of the mountains are covered with the finest timber in the United States. Giant pines, cedars and firs rise 100, 200 and even 300 feet in the air. The streams race through wild ravines and are full of mountain trout. It is a paradise for the woodsman and angler. The lakes have large and new varieties of trout in them that fight viciously for life. It is a land little known and explored, perhaps less so than any region of equal area in the United States.
The Northern Pacific's new tourist book Wonderland 97, has a chapter on this section, and it will be sent to any address by Chas. S. Fee, Gen'l Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn., upon receipt of six cents in postage stamps.

A large concourse of friends were present many of whom followed the remains to Crystal Springs cemetery where burial was had.

METHODISTS SOLID.

Unanimously They Request the Re- turn of Mr. French.

The First Methodist church this morning held its last quarterly confer- ence of the church year and unan- imously passed the strongest kind of a resolution asking for the return of Rev. W. P. French, as pastor, another year.

Presiding Elder Carlisle thought there would be no difficulty in securing the return of Mr. French. The only doubt lies in the fact that several pres-iding elders have filled the time limit and that good charges must be provided for them. It is feared that Mr. French may be pressed into service as a pres-iding elder but in no other way will the local church lose his services.

DWELLING DESTROYED.

Fire Yesterday Caused a Loss of $400.

A dwelling house on Pavone street, beyond the city limits, was destroyed by fire at noon yesterday. It was oc- cupied by a German family named Isch who lost all but a small part of their household goods.

The loss is estimated at $400. There was $300 insurance on the building in the Queen company represented by Plummer & Riford. Most of the insur- ance is payable to Edson Jewett who held a mortgage on the building for nearly its full value.

There was no insurance on the con- tents and the occupants succeeded in saving only the furniture on the first floor. The fire started up stairs and its origin is a mystery. There was no stove in the building. The fire depart- ment was alarmed but the building be- ing beyond the city's limits and not within reach of a hydrant no attempt was made to extinguish the fire.

The family is heart broken over the loss, the wife falling in a faint several times during the progress of the fire. They are hard working Germans and were struggling hard to remove the mortgage on their little home.

IT IS A LIFE FOR GOD AND A LIFE FOR OTHERS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—In this sermon Rev. Dr. Talmage discusses a subject vital to all, and never more timely than now, when the struggle for power, position, wealth and happiness is so absorbing. The text is James iv. 14 "What is your life?"

If we leave to the evolutionists to guess where we came from and to the theologians to prophesy where we are going to, we still have left for consideration the important fact that we are here. There may be some doubt about where the river rises and some doubt about where the river empties, but there can be no doubts about the fact that we are sailing on it. So I am not surprised that everybody asks the question, "Is life worth living?"

Solomon in his unhappy moments says it is not, "Vanity," "zevation of spirit," "no good," are his estimate. The fact is that Solomon was at one time a polygamist, and that soured his disposition. One wife makes a man happy. More than one makes him wretched. But Solomon was converted from polygamy to monogamy, and the last words he ever wrote, as far as we can read them, were the words "mountains of spices." But Jeremiah says life is worth living. In a book supposed to be doleful and lugubrious and sepulchral and entitled "Lamentations" he plainly intimates that the blessing of merely living is so great and grand a blessing that though a man have piled on him all misfortunes and disasters he has no right to complain. The ancient prophet cries out in contemplation to all lands and to all centuries, "Wherefore doth a living man complain?"

Conflicting Evidence.

A diversity of opinion in our time as well as in olden time. Here is a young man of light hair and blue eyes and sound digestion, and generous salary and happily affianced and on the way to become a partner in a commercial firm of which he is an important clerk. Ask him whether life is worth living. He will laugh in your face and say, "Yes, yes, yes!" Here is a man who has come to the forties. He is at the tip-top of the hill of life. Every step has been a stumble and a bruise. The people he trusted have turned out deceivers, and the money he has honestly made he has been cheated out of. His nerves are out of tune. He has poor appetite, and the food he does eat does not assimilate. Forty miles climbing up the hill of life have been to him like climbing the Matterhorn, and there are 40 miles yet to go down, and descent is always more dangerous than ascent. Ask him whether life is worth living, and he will draw out in shivering and lugubrious and appalling negative, "No, no, no!"

How are we to decide this matter righteously and intelligently? You will find the same man vacillating, oscillating in his opinion from dejection to exuberance, and if he be very mercurial in his temperament it will depend very much on which way the wind blows. If the wind blow from the northwest and you ask him, he will say "Yes," and if it blow from the northeast and you ask him he will say "No." How are we then to get the question righteously answered? Suppose we call all nations together in a great convention on eastern or western hemisphere and let all those who are in the affirmative say "Ayo" and all those who are in the negative say "No." While there would be hundreds of thousands who would answer in the affirmative, there would be more millions who would answer in the negative, and because of the greater number who have sorrow and misfortune and trouble the "Noes" would have it. The answer I shall give will be different from either, and yet it will commend itself to all who hear me this day as the right answer. If you ask me, "Is life worth living?" I answer, "It all depends upon the kind of life you live."

In the first place, I remark that a life of mere money getting is always a failure because you will never get as much as you want. The poorest people in this country are the millionaires. There is not a scoundrel grinder on the streets of New York or Brooklyn who is so anxious to make money as these men who have piled up fortunes year after year in storehouses, in government securities, in tenement houses, in whole city blocks. You ought to see them jump when they hear the fire bell ring. You ought to see them in their excitement when a bank explodes. You ought to see their agitation when there is proposed a reformation in the tariff. Their nerves tremble like harp strings, but no music in the vibration. They read the reports from Wall street in the morning with a concernment that threatens paralysis or apoplexy or, more probably, they have a telegraph or a telephone in their own house, so they catch every breath of change in the money market. The disease of accumulation has eaten into them—eaten into their hearts, into their lungs, into their spleen, into their liver, into their bones.

Chemists have sometimes analyzed the human body, and they say it is so much magnesia, so much lime, so much chlorate of potassium. If some Christian chemist would analyze one of these financial beef-moths, he would find he is made up of copper and gold and silver and zinc and lead and coal and iron. That is not a life worth living. There are too many earthquakes in it, too many agonies in it, too many perditions in it. They build their castles, and they open their picture galleries, and they summon prima donnas, and they offer every inducement for happiness to come and live there, but happiness will not come. They send footmen and postillions and equipage to bring her. She will not ride to their door. They send princelings to escort. She will not take their arm. They make their gateways triumphal arches. She will not ride under them. They set a golden throne before a golden plate. She turns away from the banquet. They call to her from upholstered balcony. She will not listen. Mark you, this is the fallacy of those who have had large accumulations

Worldly Failure.
And then you must take into consideration that the vast majority of those who make the dominant idea of life money getting fall far short of affluence. It is estimated that only about two out of a hundred business men have anything worth the name of success. A man who spends his life with the one dominant idea of financial accumulation spends a life not worth living.

Be the idea of worldly approval. If that is dominant in a man's life, he is wise and sane. Every four years the two most unto each one, and it will be easy on these numbers, and they will have to stand and take the abuse, and the falsehood, and the caricature, and the anathema, and the expostulating, and the flith, and they will be rolled in it and rolled over, and over in it until they are choked and submerged and strangled, and at every sign of returning consciousness they will be barked at by all the hounds of political parties from ocean to ocean. And yet there are a hundred men today struggling for that privilege, and there are thousands of men who are helping them in the struggle. Now, that is not a life worth living. You can get slandered and abused cheaper than that. Take it on a smaller scale. Do not be so ambitious to have a whole reservoir rolled over on you.

But what you see in the matter of high political preferment you see in every community in the struggle for what is called social position. Tens of thousands of people trying to get into that realm, and they are under terrific tension. What is social position? It is a difficult thing to define, but we all know what it is. Good morals and intelligence are not necessary, but wealth, or a show of wealth, is absolutely indispensable. There are men today as notorious for their liberalism as the night is famous for its darkness who move in what is called high social position. There are hundreds of out and out rakes in American society whose names are mentioned among the distinguished guests at the great levees. They have annexed all the known vices and are longing for other worlds of diabolism to conquer. Good morals are not necessary in many of the exalted circles of society.

Neither is intelligence necessary. You find in that realm men who would not know an adverb from an adjective if they met it a hundred times in a day, and who could not write a letter of acceptance or regrets without the aid of a secretary. They buy their libraries by the square yard, only anxious to have the binding Russian. Their ignorance is positively sublime, making English grammar almost irreputable, and yet the finest parlors open before them. Good morals and intelligence are not necessary, but wealth or a show wealth is positively indispensable. It does not make any difference how you got your wealth, if you only got it. The best way for you to get into social position is for you to buy a large amount on credit, then put your property in your wife's name, have a few preferred creditors and then make an assignment. Then disappear from the community until the breeze is over and come back and start in the same business. Do you not see how beautifully that will put out all the people who are in competition with you and trying to make an honest living? How quickly it will get you into high social position! What is the use of toiling 40 or 60 years when you can by two or three bright strokes make a great fortune? Ah, my friends, when you really lose your money how quickly they will let you drop, and the higher you get the harder you will drop.

Torture at a Premium.

There are thousands today in that realm who are anxious to keep in it. There are thousands in that realm who are nervous for fear they will fall out of it, and there are changes going on every year and every month and every hour which involve heartbreaks that are never reported. High social life is constantly in a flutter about the delicate question as to whom they shall let in and whom they shall push out, and the battle is going on—pier mirror against pier mirror, chandelier against chandelier, wine cellar against wine cellar, wardrobe against wardrobe, equipage against equipage. Uncertainty and insecurity dominant in that realm, wretchedness enthroned, torture at a premium and a life not worth living.

A life of sin, a life of pride, a life of indulgence, a life of worldliness, a life devoted to the world, the flesh and the devil, is a failure, a dead failure, an infinite failure. I care not how many presents you send to that cradle or how many garlands you send to that grave, you need to put right under the name on the tombstone this inscription, "Better for that man if he had never been born."

But I shall show you a life that is worth living. A young man says: "I am here. I am not responsible for my ancestry. Others decided that. I am not responsible for my temperament. God gave me that. But here I am, in the evening of the nineteenth century, at 20 years of age. I am here, and I must take an account of stock. Here I have a body which is a divinely constructed engine. I must put it to the very best use, and I must allow nothing to damage this rarest of machinery. Two feet, and they mean locomotion; two eyes, and they mean capacity to pick out my own way; two ears, and they are telephones of communication with all the outside world, and they mean capacity to catch sweetest music and the voices of friendship, the very best music; a tongue, with almost infinity of articulation. Yes, hands with which to welcome or resist or lift or smite or wave or bless—hands to help myself and help others.

Here is a world which after 6,000 years of battling with tempest and accident is still grander than any architect, human or angelic, could have drafted. I have two lamps to light me, a golden lamp and a silver lamp—a golden lamp set on the sapphire mantel of the day, a silver lamp set on the jet mantel of the night. Yes, I have that at 20 years of age which defies all inventory of valuables—a soul, with capacity to choose or reject, to rejoice or suffer, to love or to hate. Plato says it is immortal. Seneca says it is immortal. Confucius says it is immortal. An old book among the family relics—a book with worn leather cover almost rotten out and pages almost obliterated by oft perusal—joins the other books in saying I am immortal. I have 80 years for a lifetime, 80 years yet to live. I may not live an hour, but then, I must lay out my plans intelligently and for a long life. Sixty years added to the 20 I have already lived—that will bring me to 80. I must remember that these 80 years are only a brief preface to the five hundred thousand millions of quintillions of hours which will be my chief residence and existence. Now, I understand my opportunity.

There is any thing in the universe all wise and all beneficent who can help a man in such a juncture, I want him. The oldest book found among the family relics tells me there is a God, and that for the sake of his Son, one Jesus, he will give help to man. To him I appeal. God help me. Here I have 60 years yet to do for myself and to do for others. I must develop this body by all industries, by all gymnastics, by all exertion, by all fresh air, by all good habits, and this end I must have sweet and garnished and thimble-fitted shoes to wear.

My Father and Mother, as we grow old I will try. I wonder how many good deeds I can do in the next 60 years
I will try. God help me!

THE NINTH CREATION

That young man enters life. He is buffeted, he is tried, he is perplexed. A grave opens on this side, and a grave opens on that side. He falls, but he rises again. He gets into a hard battle, but he gets the victory. The main course of his life is in the right direction. He blames everybody he comes in contact with. God forgives his mistakes and makes everlasting record of his holy endeavors, and at the close of it God says to him: "Well done, good and faithful servant. Enter into the joy of thy Lord." My brother, my sister, I do not care whether that man dies at 80, 40, 60, 60, 70 or 80 years of age. You can chisel right under his name on the tombstone these words: "His life was worth living."

Amid the hills of New Hampshire in olden times there sits a mother. There are six children in the household—four boys and two girls. Small farm. Very rough, hard work to coax a living out of it. Mighty tug to make the two ends of the year meet. The boys go to school in winter and work the farm in summer. Mother is the chief presiding spirit. With her hands she knits all the stockings for the little feet, and she is the mantua maker for the boys, and she is the millinery for the girls. There is only one musical instrument in the house—the spinning wheel. The food is very plain, but it is always well provided. The winters are very cold, but are kept out by the blankets she quilted. On Sunday, when she appears in the village church, her children around her, the minister looks down and is reminded of the Bible description of a good housewife, "Her children arise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praiseth her."

Some years go by, and the two oldest boys want a collegiate education, and the household economies are severer, and the calculations are closer, and until those two boys get their education there is a hard battle for bread. One of these boys enters the university, stands in a pulpit widely influential and preaches righteousness, judgment and temperance, and thousands during his ministry are blessed. The other lad who got the collegiate education goes into the law and thence into legislative halls, and after awhile he commands listening senates as he makes a plea for the downtrodden and the outcast. One of the younger boys becomes a merchant, starting at the foot of the ladder, but climbing on up until his success and his philanthropies are recognized all over the land. The other son stays at home because he prefers farming life, and then he thinks he will be able to take care of father and mother when they get old.

Of the two daughters, when the war broke out one went through the hospitals of Pittsburgh Landing and Fortress Monroe, cheering up the dying and the homesick and taking the last message to kindred far away, so that every time Christ thought of her he said as of old, "Thine is my sister and mother." The other daughter has a bright home of her own, and in the afternoon, the forenoon having been devoted to her household, she goes forth to hunt up the sick and to encourage the discouraged, leaving smiles and benediction all along the way.

But one day there start five telegrams from the village for these five absent ones, saying: "Come. Mother is dangerously ill." But before they can be ready to start they receive another telegram, saying: "Come. Mother is dead." The old neighbors gather in the old farmhouse to do the last offices of respect, but as that farming-son, and the clergyman, and the senator, and the merchant, and the two daughters stand by the casket of the dead mother taking the last look or lifting their little children to see once more the face of dear old grandma I want to ask that group around the casket one question, "Do you really think her life was worth living?" A life for God, a life for others, a life of unselfishness, a useful life, a Christian-life, is always worth living.

The Door to Eternity.

I would not find it hard to persuade you that the poor lad, Peter Cooper, making glue for a living and then amassing a great fortune until he could build a philanthropy which has had its echo in 10,000 philanthropies all over the country—I would not find it hard to persuade you that his life was worth living. Neither would I find it hard to persuade you that the life of Susanah Wesley was worth living. She sent out one son to organize Methodism and the other son to ring his anthems all through the ages. I would not find it hard work to persuade you that the life of Frances Leere was worth living, as she established in England a school for the scientific nursing of the sick, and then when the war broke out between France and Germany went to the front, and with her own hands scraped the mud off the bodies of the soldiers dying in the trenches, and with her weak arm—standing one night in the hospital—pushing back a German soldier to his couch, as, all frenzied with his wounds, he rushed to the door and said, "Let me go, let me go to my liebe mutter," my major generals standing back to let pass this angel of mercy.

Neither would I have hard work to persuade you that Grace Darling lived a life worth living—the heroine of the lifeboat. You are not wondering that the Duchess of Northumberland came to see her, and that people of all lands asked for her light house, and that the proprietor of the Adelphi theater in London offered her $100 a night just to sit in the lifeboat while some shipwreck scene was being enacted.

But I know the thought in the minds of hundreds of you today. You say: "While I know all these lived lives worth living, I don't think my life amounts to much." Ah, my friends, whether you live a life conspicuous or inconspicuous, it is worth living if you live aright, and I want my next sentence to go down into the depths of all your souls. You are to be rewarded, not according to the greatness of your work, but according to the holy industries with which you employed the talents you really possessed. The majority of the crowns of heavens will not be given to people with ten talents, for most of them were tempted only to serve themselves. The vast majority of the crowns of heaven will be given to people who had one talent, but gave it all to God, and remember that our life here is introductory, to another. It is the vestibule to a palace, but who despises the door of a Madeleine because there are grander glories within? Your life if rightly lived is the first bar to an eternal ambrosia, and who despises the first note of Haydn's symphonies? And the life you live now is all the more worth living because it opens into a life that shall never end, and the last letter of the word "time" is the first letter of the word "eternity."

rich, more or less and of almost as many colors. These gather themselves into pools and lakelets on the mountain's side, covering an area of about 200 acres. Overflowing their boundaries they slowly trickle down the sides of the mountain forming small cliffs, the most wonderful in the world. From a distance one can hardly believe what the eyesight reveals—white, black, orange, lemon, terra cotta, green, blue, red, pink, separate and in manifold combinations stand out before him. It is a hill of painted cliffs on the sides of the mountain that rises high above. And the odd part of it is that each of these exquisite colors represents a different temperature. Does that startle your credulity? Even so it is true.

Where these waters emerge from the mountain into the little lakes they are hot, boiling hot. During their dark underground journey they fall several hundred feet and also many degrees in hotness, so that when they again see daylight they are much cooler. This then is Boiling River, an underground mountain stream of hot water.

Judge Coolidge Determining the Necessity for a Receiver.

The petition by Henry D. Deam and others for the appointment of a receiver for the Benton Harbor Electric Railway & Transit company is being argued before Judge Coolidge in chambers at Niles this afternoon.

OFFICES IN ST. JOSEPH.

Extensive Glass Manufacturers to Operate Here.

The Union Glass Works company is the name of a corporation that has filed articles of association with the county clerk, and will open offices in St. Joseph. The company is capitalized at $10,000 and will engage in the manufacture of glass in Madison county, Indiana.

The capital stock is divided into 1,000 shares of $10 each, all of which is paid in and is held as follows: E. J. Holton, 200 shares; Daniel H. Holton, 15 shares; Forbes Holton, five shares. The stock holders all reside at Anderson, Ind.

The advantage of having the offices in St. Joseph lies in the fact that the material for the manufacture of the glass will all be obtained from this locality, the company having extensive sand pits along the Vandalia railway a few miles south of St. Joseph.

A BIG INDUSTRY.

The Robinson Vinegar Works an Extensive Plant.

A visit to the Robinson cider and vinegar works will greatly surprise anyone not acquainted with the scientific manufacture of vinegar.

The idea is generally prevalent that cider left to itself will "work" and in time become vinegar. That, however, is not the case, and at the Robinson factory cider is manufactured into the acid fluid by a scientific process. The factory is filled with casks inside of which are filters made of shavings from beech trees, and through these filters the cider runs night and day, week days and Sundays, until it is the finished article.

Captain Robinson has been in the cider business for several years and it was only five years ago that he began converting the cider into vinegar. He sold the cider for two cents a gallon and in turn the vinegar factories would "finish" it and put it on the market for 18 cents a gallon, the prevailing price at wholesale years ago. This large profit induced Mr. Robinson to look into the secrets of the finishing trade and after several experiments he perfected a process which has made his product a leader on every market where it has been introduced.

Mr. Robinson manufactures two brands of vinegar—one from apples and the other from grapes. The grape vinegar sells for the higher price.

The work of grinding apples for this season will begin in a few days.

LECTURE COURSE.

It Will Open October 20 With Henry Watterson.

Solicitors will at once visit the people of the city in the interests of the Benton Harbor lecture course, which is booked to open October 20 with Henry Watterson's great lecture on "Abraham Lincoln."

The course given under this management last year was a pleasing success but the one to be presented the coming season is equal to anything ever offered in the state. The price of season tickets will be the same as last year, $1.

A liberal patronage of the season tickets will insure the presentation of the course.

BOATS AND RAILROADS.

The season of railway excursions is past. The Big Four yesterday brought in an excursion from Marion, Ind., but it was poorly patronized, there being scarcely more than 75 passengers. The regular Sunday train over the Vandalia brought in but few more than the regular quota and the boats were poorly patronized. It was the quietest day the two cities have witnessed in many weeks, and spoke with emphasis, the fact that the resort season of 1897 is closed in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

The City of Chicago will leave Benton Harbor dock next Saturday at 9 o'clock and St. Joseph at 12 o'clock. Returning leave Chicago at 11:30. Tickets 50 cents for round trip.

Over 450 people took in the excursion to Milwaukee Saturday night on the City of Louisville. The trip was delightful and Milwaukee and the Louisville added 450 to their list of friends. The Louisville has grown wonderfully in public favor this season. The excursion came in over the Big Four from Goshen and Elkhart, and was run under the direction of J. O. Walsh.

The tug Payne is on the ways at Almondinger's ship yards receiving repairs to her hull.

The barges Robert T. Wente and Ben Hayes arrived yesterday with full cargoes of lumber for shipment over the Big Four railway.

Two excursions will be run by boat to Milwaukee next week, one on Monday night carrying excursionists brought here over the Vandalia railway from Logansport and intervening towns and another Wednesday night with excursionists from Warsaw and other Indiana towns along the Big Four railway.

AMONG THE CRIMINALS.

Thomas Morgan and William Randall were received at the county jail Saturday night to await their examination on the charge of larceny before Justice Sabin, of Buchanan, next Friday. The men are charged with stealing a revolver from the office of the Milwaukee, Benton Harbor & Columbus railway at Buchanan. The revolver is the property of a man named Hedrick.

Sheriff Ferguson is sending out 5,000 reward cards, bearing a portrait of McDonald and a description of the man. These will fall into the hands of the sheriffs and chiefs of police for hundreds of miles around. The sheriff has not yet given up hope of capturing McDonald.

A warrant was issued in Justice St. Clair's court this morning for the arrest of Thomas Taylor who is charged with committing an assault upon Victor Anderson Saturday night. Taylor has not yet been arrested.

William Brown who used a knife with painful effectiveness in Friday night's riot in St. Joseph, will have his examination before Justice Baldrey next Monday. The charge of assault with intent to commit murder will probably be withdrawn and a simple complaint of assault and battery lodged against him.

Matie Campbell, a rather attractive appearing girl, was arrested Saturday night for creating a disturbance on the streets in St. Joseph. She paid a fine of $1 and costs. She was intoxicated.
